British Racing School's Safeguarding Policy

1. Scope

This policy and all the procedures laid out in it applies to everyone that attends the school including; trainees and their families, all staff and volunteers, contractors, all those on the apprenticeship in the workplace, employers and their staff and all visitors to the BRS.

2. Aims

The purpose of the British Racing School's (BRS) Safeguarding Policy is to provide a robust and secure framework for the BRS in safeguarding and to promote the welfare of trainees who attend the BRS and in the workplace whilst on the BRS apprenticeship programme. The policy aims to ensure that:

- All trainees are safe and are able to achieve the Every Child Matters outcomes. (Be healthy, stay safe, enjoy and achieve, make a positive contribution and achieve economic well-being).
- All concerns are reported no matter how low level they are considered to be.
- All trainees receive support to help prevent impairment of their mental and physical health or development.
- Trainees and their parents or carers have confidence in the systems we have in place.
- Other elements of provision and policies are in place to enable trainees to feel safe and adopt safe practices.
- Staff, trainees, trustees, visitors, employers and parents are aware of expected behaviours and the BRS's legal responsibilities to its trainees.
- Staff are trained to the appropriate level, receive regular updates and are aware of procedures for reporting concerns.

3. Ethos

Safeguarding at the BRS is considered everyone's responsibility and as such the school aims to provide a safe environment for every trainee, where they have the opportunity to achieve their potential. The BRS recognises the importance of ensuring that all trainees and staff feel safe, that they will be listened to and that appropriate action will be taken when concerns are raised. This will be done by, where necessary, working with other agencies (Appendix 1) and by providing activities and opportunities throughout the curriculum that will help equip our trainees with the knowledge, skills and ambition they need to succeed in modern Britain and to compete in the global labour market. This will include materials and learning experiences that will encourage our trainees to develop essential life skills and protective behaviours.

The BRS adopts a trainee centred approach which understands the needs and views of individual trainees.

In Safeguarding and promoting the welfare and wellbeing of our trainees, the BRS will act in accordance with key statutory and non-statutory guidance:

- "Working Together to Safeguard Children" 2018 (Updated 2022)

- Liaise with employers and safeguarding team when issues arise.
- Report all concerns, no matter how low level, about trainees and their workplaces directly to the BRS safeguarding team.

5. Giving Prominence to Safeguarding

It is important that Safeguarding is given prominence, meaning that anyone attending the BRS and parents and/or carers are aware of how we deliver this. This is done in a number of ways:

- Publicly, by publishing this policy on the BRS website.
- Regular Safeguarding audit by nominated Safeguarding Trustees.
- Trainee handbook contains a section on Safeguarding.
- Induction of new courses and staff, covered by DSL.
- Safeguarding Policy, Code of Conduct and most up-to-date version of Keeping Children Safe in Education which all staff are required to have read and signed to confirm they have read and understood it.
- Weekly welfare meetings.
- Mid-course questionnaire contains specific questions on Safeguarding.
- Trainee partnership meetings, Safeguarding covered as an agenda item.
- End of Course Questionnaire contains specific questions on Safeguarding and referred to during the end-of-course interview with CEO.
- BRS OneFile/Smart Assessor system contains Safeguarding review which must be carried out for each trainee entering the workplace within 10 days of starting.

6. Recognising Concerns, Signs, and Indicators of Abuse

Safeguarding is not just about protecting trainees from deliberate harm. It includes such things as trainee safety, bullying, racist abuse and harassment, online safety, amongst others. Witnessing abuse is never easy and can have a damaging effect on those who witness it as well as the victim subjected to the actual abuse.

Abuse can take place anywhere, at any time, in any family, institution or community, in person or by telephone or on the internet. It can also take place wholly online or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse.

It is important to not take the stance of:

“It wouldn’t happen here”.

Abuse can be difficult to recognise as a trainee may behave differently or seem unhappy for a multitude of reasons, as they move through stages of their development or possible changes to family circumstances. However, it is important to understand the forms of abuse and their indicators.

Definition

“Abuse is a form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. They may be abused by an adult or adults or another child or children”.

The term “children” used above includes everyone under the age of 18 but the BRS has a Duty of Care to all trainees regardless of age.

Types of Abuse:

Emotional abuse is a persistent emotional maltreatment of a person such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the person’s emotional development. It may involve conveying to the person that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on a person. These may include interactions that are beyond the person’s development capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the person participating in normal social interactions. It may involve serious bullying, causing individuals frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of young people or adults at risk. Some level of emotional abuse often goes “hand in hand” with other types of maltreatment, though it may also occur on its own.

Key Factors

- Development delay.
- Abnormal attachment to parent or carer.
- Low self-esteem.
- Lack of confidence.
- Inappropriate emotional response.

Sexual abuse involves forcing a young person or vulnerable adult or enticing a young person/vulnerable adult to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution, whether or not the person is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including penetrative (e.g. rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts (e.g. masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside the clothing). They may include non-contact activities, such as involving young people, or adults at risk, in looking at, or in the production of pornographic materials or watching sexual activities, encouraging young people/vulnerable adults to behave in sexually inappropriate ways or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by males; women can also commit acts of sexual abuse as can other children. While the media often promote “stranger danger”, between 80 and 90% of cases involve a known adult. The internet has increased risk of non-contact sexual abuse and trainees must be alert to these dangers when online.

Key Factors

- Aggression.

- Withdrawn.
- Self-harming, including eating disorders.
- Promiscuity/precociousness.
- Inappropriate sexualised conduct.
- Sexually explicit behaviour.
- Reluctance to remove clothing e.g. during fitness training.

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a young person's/vulnerable adult's basic and/or psychological needs, and will likely result in the serious impairment of the individuals health or development. Neglect may even occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a young person is born, neglect involves a parent or carer failing to provide adequate food and clothing, shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment), failing to protect a young person/vulnerable adult from physical and emotional harm and danger, failure to ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate caretakers), or the failure to ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a person's basic emotional needs.

Key Factors

- Inadequate clothing for size or time of the year/weather.
- Underweight for age.
- Poor health.
- Emotionally needy.
- Persistently dirty with a body odour.
- Frequent absences.

Physical abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a person.

Key Factors

- Bruising of various ages.
- Bite marks.
- Burns and scalds.
- If the injuries are unusual in appearance, cannot be explained or the explanation is not clear.
- Old injuries or scars.
- Refusal to discuss injuries or inconsistent explanations.
- Talk of punishment which seems excessive.
- Reluctance to remove clothing which may be covering injuries, for example during fitness.
- Arms and legs kept covered.
- Parents or carers uninterested or undisturbed by an accident or injury.

Please note the Key Factors are by no means an exhaustive list and the presence of one or more is not proof that abuse is actually taking place or has taken place.

Abuse and young people and adults at risk with a disability, or special educational needs (SEN).

Young people/adults at risk with a disability or SEN are at increased risk of abuse and those with multiple disabilities are at even more significant risk both of abuse and neglect. Parents of young people with a disability may experience multiple stresses. This group of young people and adults at risk may be particularly vulnerable to abuse for a number of reasons including:

- Having few social contacts than other young people.
- Receiving intimate personal care from a large number of carers.
- Having an impaired capacity to challenge abuse.
- Having communication difficulties resulting in difficulties in telling people what is happening.
- Being reluctant to complain for fear of losing services.
- Being particularly vulnerable to bullying or intimidation.
- Being more vulnerable than other young people to abuse by peers.

It is important to remember that not all disabilities are visible and mental health conditions may cause barriers for reporting concerns.

7. Prevent Duty

Extremism and Radicalisation are important aspects of safeguarding young people and adults at risk, as with any other concern, the risk of harm is raised when young people are vulnerable and is often noticed when they change their behaviour, clothing, appearance or attitudes.

Extremism: “Vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values” and includes “Calls for the death of British armed forces”. The Prevent Strategy Govt. 2011.

One aspect of Safeguarding young people and adults at risk from radicalisation is set out in “promoting Fundamental British values”. (The Prevent Strategy Govt. 2011) This guidance sets out British values as:

- Democracy.
- The Rule of Law.
- Individual Liberty.
- Mutual Respect and Tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.

Extremism takes many forms and all ideologies are included in this area of safeguarding e.g.

- Islamic Extremism.
- Right-wing Extremism.
- Left-wing Extremism.
- Animal rights Extremism.

Radicalisation: Refers to the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and forms of extremism. There is no single way of identifying an individual who is likely to be susceptible to terrorist ideology. As with other safeguarding risks, staff must be alert to changes in trainee behaviour which could indicate they need help or protection. It is important that staff recognises indicators that could make a trainee vulnerable to radicalisation.:

Key Factors

- Identity: e.g., Trainee may appear to be distracted from their cultural or religious heritage, feeling discomfort about their place in society, have low self-esteem, may have disassociated themselves from their peer group and become involved with a new and different group of friends or may change their appearance.

- Personal Circumstances: e.g., Events affecting the trainees' country of origin may lead to a sense of grievance that could be triggered by personal experience of racism or discrimination or aspects of Government policy.
- Unmet Aspirations: e.g., Trainee may have perceptions of injustice, a feeling of failure or a rejection of civic life.
- Criminality: e.g., Trainee could be, or have been involved with criminal groups, imprisonment, or experienced poor settlement in the past.
- Special Educational Needs: e.g., Leading to poor understanding of the consequences of their actions or the awareness of the motivation of others, lack of social interaction or a tendency to show empathy with others.

Other more critical risk factors could include:

- Being in contact with extremist recruiters.
- Accessing violent and extremist websites especially through social networking.
- Possessing violent or extremist literature.
- Using extremist narratives to explain person disadvantage.
- Justifying the use of violence to solve issues.
- Significant changes to appearance and/or behaviour.
- Joining or seeking to join extremist organisations.

Terrorism: "Is an action that endangers or causes serious violence to a person/people; causes serious damage to property; or seriously interferes or disrupts an electronic system" KCSIE 2023.

If any member of staff has a concern about a trainee they should adopt the following procedure:

Notice – Identify concern.

Check – Speak to DSL or Alternate.

Share – DSL or Alternate will refer to the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub who will in turn refer to the Suffolk Channel Panel.

8. Specific Safeguarding Issues

Some members of our communities hold beliefs that may be common within certain cultures but which are at odds with the law in Britain and as such the BRS has a duty to report any such concerns to the appropriate authorities.

Mental Health

BRS places great importance on trainee's mental health and wellbeing. BRS recognises that mental health problems can be a sign that a trainee has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect, or exploitation. The school has taken steps that will help trainees with mental health issue get the help and support they need. This includes:

- BRS will appoint a mental health lead (Lawrie Gillespie).
- Training for senior staff in Mental Health first aid.
- Training for other staff in Mental Health Awareness.
- Clear procedures for reporting both mental health and safeguarding issues.

- If staff have a mental health concern that is also a safeguarding concern, immediate action should be taken, following BRS reporting procedures and speaking to the DSL.

Children and the court system

Children are sometimes required to give evidence in criminal courts, either for crimes committed against them or for crimes they have witnessed. An appropriate guide is in place to support 12–17-year-olds.

Special measures were introduced through the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Act (YJCEA) 1999 and include a range of measures to support victims and witnesses (other than the accused) to give their best evidence and help reduces some of the anxiety of attending court.

The guide explains each step of the process, support and special measures that are available. For example there are diagrams illustrating the courtroom structure and the use of video links is explained.

Making child arrangements via the family courts following separation can be stressful and entrench conflict in families and concise information on the dispute resolution service. This may be useful for some parents and carers. The Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service (CAFCASS) has been in place since 2001 and supports children and families throughout the whole court process. This body is independent of the courts, social services, education and health authorities and all similar agencies and will support children and young people during the following:

- Divorce and separation if no agreement can be reached.
- Care proceedings.
- Adoption.
- Cafcass.gov.uk

Should any trainee require to attend court, for any reason, BRS will provide help and support and ensure they are made aware of the help and support available from these agencies.

Children with family members in prison

Approximately 200,000 children in England and Wales have a parent sent to prison each year. These children are at risk of poor outcomes including poverty, stigma, isolation and poor mental health. National Information Centre on Children of Offenders (www.nicco.org.uk/) provides information designed to support professionals working with offenders and their children, to help mitigate negative consequences for those children.

BRS will support any trainee who discloses that a family member is in prison and will ensure they have access to the support available.

Children missing from education

All staff should be aware that trainees going missing, particularly repeatedly, can act as a vital warning sign of a range of safeguarding issues. This may include abuse and neglect, which may include sexual abuse or exploitation and child criminal exploitation. It may indicate mental health problems, risk of substance abuse, risk of travelling to conflict zones, risk of female genital mutilation or risk of forced marriage. Early intervention is necessary to identify the existence of any underlying safeguarding risk and to help prevent the risk of a child going missing in the future. Staff should be aware that any trainee regularly absent from either the workplace or the BRS should be reported to the safeguarding team as this can be a warning sign for a range of safeguarding concerns, including sexual abuse, sexual exploitation or child criminal exploitation.

Child Sexual Exploitation (CSE) and Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE).

CSE and CCE are characterised by children and young people receiving goods, favours, or money in return for sexual and/or criminal activities. In all such exploitation the balance of powers remains with the abuser(s) age, intellect and resources,

Gender, sexual identity, cognitive ability, physical strength, status and lack of resources are some of the factors which will determine targets for abusers.

CSE and CCE can affect both males and females. In fact, it is suggested that around a third of victims are male but warning signs are the same for all, e.g. appearing with unexplained gifts, poor sexual health, violent mood swings and poor anger management, inappropriate sexualised behaviour (especially around strangers).

CSE and CCE takes many forms and a range of coercive techniques are used for grooming as explained above.

If any staff member or trainee has any concerns regarding such abuse they must report it to DSL or Alternate who will involve the appropriate authorities or in an emergency dial 999/112.

Risk Factors

- Homelessness.
- Those in care or care leavers (especially residential care).
- Those with learning difficulties.
- Migrant children/unaccompanied asylum-seeking young people.
- History of or involvement in substance abuse.
- Those disengaged from education.
- Poor mental health.
- Disrupted family life.
- Domestic Violence.
- Parental drug/alcohol misuse.
- History of physical or sexual abuse.
- Those involved in gang culture.

Warning Signs

- Appearing with unexplained, usually expensive gifts e.g. jewellery, phones, money.
- Frequently in the company of older people, particularly boyfriends or girlfriends.
- Self-harm.
- Secretive behaviour.
- Low-level crime.
- Chronic tiredness.
- Association with risky adults, inappropriate sexualised behaviour, especially around strangers.
- Mood swings, poor anger control, changes in emotional well-being.
- Poor sexual health.
- Drug and/or alcohol misuse (often a method of increasing compliance).

These signs and factors alone may not show the exploitation has happened or is happening but a combination of some should lead to concerns.

County Lines

Criminal Exploitation can also be known as “County Lines” and is when gangs and organised criminal networks groom and exploit young people (and vulnerable adults) to sell drugs. Often these young people are made to travel across counties and they use dedicated mobile phone “lines” (often on burner phones which are difficult to trace” to supply drugs. These “lines” are highly organised and are worth thousands of pounds. The victims are often sexually abused and also used to transport or carry weapons.

The majority of victims groomed into working for gangs are 15-17 year-old boys but children as young as 7 or 8 have been safeguarded and girls are often targeted as they are perceived as less likely to be stopped by law enforcement.

Many victims are recruited over social media, with offenders luring them via images of cash, designer clothing and luxury cars, but vulnerable girls and women are being targeted by men who create the impression of a romantic relationship before subjecting them to CSE and/or CCE.

If any staff member of trainee has any concerns regarding such abuse they must report it to DSL or Alternate who will involve the appropriate authorities or in an emergency dial 999/112.

Serious Violence

The above listed Risk Factors and Warning Signs could also indicate that a young person has been approached by, or is involved with, individuals associated with criminal networks or gangs who may be involved in serious violent crime. If staff are concerned about this they should follow BRS safeguarding procedures and report it to the DSL's.

Exploitation and Online Safety

Children and young people can be exploited and suffer bullying through their use of modern technology such as the internet, mobile phones and social networking sites. Trainees could be groomed to share indecent images with others on the internet; the prevalence of sexting is a significant risk factor and as such is dealt with in its own paragraph below. It is also important to remember that these devices can be used to carry out many forms of abuse and exploitation not just sexual.

It is essential that BRS trainees are safeguarded from potentially harmful and inappropriate online material. This is reflected in the delivery of an Online Safety lecture soon after trainee's arrival at the BRS and backed up by an appropriate filter on BRS IT system (monitored by Dolphin ICT) and BRS Online Safety Policy. BRS recognises that trainees may be at risk of abuse online as well as fact to face or abuse may run concurrently both online and in daily life. Trainees may also abuse their peers online and any reported incidents or allegations will be dealt with in line with the Peer-on-Peer Abuse Policy.

Communication with trainees by mobile phone or other electronic devices must only be done using BRS equipment or BRS official social networking pages. Use of personal equipment or media is strictly forbidden. All staff will receive guidance on this as part of induction. All staff required to use technology will receive online safety training.

Sexting

Sexting is a significant issue for young people and is when someone sends or receives a sexually explicit text, image or video on their mobile phone, computer or tablet. It can include sexual chat or requests for pictures of a sexual nature. It may be the intention for the image/text to be shared only with one person, but invariably can end up being shared across the internet. These images/texts can be part of the early stages of grooming.

Although sexting is a widespread phenomenon, it is illegal to send, create or be in possession of indecent images or videos of people under 18 years old. Therefore, if evidence of sexting comes to light, the BRS will report its concerns to the appropriate authority. Trainees will also receive further guidance as part of the induction process and curriculum.

Domestic Abuse

“Any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling or threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are or have been intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality”. HM Gov 2013.

Controlling behaviour is a range of acts designed to make a person subordinate and/or dependent by isolating them from sources of support, exploiting their resources and capacities for personal gain, depriving them of the means needed for independence, resistance and escape and regulating their everyday behaviour.

Coercive behaviour is an act or pattern of acts of assault, threats, humiliation and intimidation or other abuse that is used to harm, punish or frighten their victim.

Trainees may suffer both directly or indirectly if they live in households where there is domestic violence.

Domestic violence/abuse:

- Can be psychological, physical, sexual, financial, or emotional.
- Can impact on young people through seeing, hearing or experiencing the effects of domestic abuse and/or experiencing it through their own personal relationships.

Domestic violence/abuse is likely to have a detrimental effect on the health, development and wellbeing of a trainee and it will often be appropriate for such to be regarded as Children in Need under The Children Act 1989. If there is evidence of domestic abuse, the BRS will report its concerns to the appropriate authority and the police in order to help prevent further abuse taking place.

Homelessness

Being homeless or being at risk of becoming homeless presents a real risk to a trainee's welfare. The DSL (and any deputies) should be aware of contact details and referral routes into the Local Housing Authority so they can raise/progress concerns at the earliest opportunity. Indicators that a family may be at risk of homelessness include household debt, rent arrears, domestic abuse and anti-social behaviour, as well as the family being asked to leave a property. Whilst referrals and/or discussion with the Local Housing Authority should be progressed as appropriate, and in accordance with local procedures, this does not, and should not, replace a referral into children's social care where a child has been harmed or is at risk of harm.

It should also be recognised that 16-17 year-olds could be living independently from their parents or carers, for example through their exclusion from the family home, and will require a different level of intervention and support. Children's services will be the lead agency for these young people and the DSL (or a deputy) will ensure appropriate referrals are made based on the trainee's circumstances.

Honour Based Violence (HBV) including Forced Marriage & Female Genital Mutilation

Forcing someone to marry is a criminal offence in England, Wales, and Northern Ireland. The legislation is part of The Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014.

The legislation criminalises the use of violence, threats, deception or any form of coercion for the purpose of forcing someone into marriage or leaving the UK with the intention of forcing that person to marry.

Honour Based Violence can be described as a collection of practices which are used to control behaviour within families or other social groups, to control perceived cultural and religious beliefs and/or honour. There is no specific offence of "honour based violence", but it encompasses various offences covered by existing legislation.

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) is the non-medical, partial, or total removal of the female external genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs. This procedure is typically carried out on young girls but can be carried out later in life. FGM is illegal in Britain since 1985 and in 2003 it became an offence to take children abroad to have the procedure carried out.

Since October 2015 every professional has a mandatory reporting duty to notify police when they discover that an act of FGM has been carried out on a girl under 18 years old. Unless they have a good reason not to, staff should still consider and discuss any such case with the DSL or deputies who will involve Children and Young Peoples Services as appropriate.

Risk Factors

- Low-level integration into UK society.
- Mother or Sister who has undergone FGM.
- Girls who do not want to take part in evening PSHE (personal, social, health and economic) sessions.
- Visiting female elder from country of origin.
- Talk about a "special procedure" to become a woman.

Child on Child Abuse

All staff should be aware that trainees can exhibit or be vulnerable to Child on Child Abuse (sometimes referred to as Harmful Sexual Behaviours).

This can include, but not limited to:

- Bullying (see BRS Anti-Bullying policy).
- Physical Abuse (as described on page 8)
- Abuse in intimate personal relationships between peers.
- Sexual violence (such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual assault, see KCSIE page 87).
- Sexual harassment (such as sexual comments or innuendo, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, which may be stand-alone or part of a broader pattern of abuse).
- Upskirting, which typically involves taking a picture under a person's clothing without them knowing, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm. As of April 2019, upskirting is a criminal offence.
- Sexting.
- Hazing type violence and rituals could include activities such as harassment, abuse or humiliation used as a way of initiating a person into a group and could also include an online element.
- Radicalisation.

- Gang association and serious violence (County Lines).

All trainees will be made aware of Child on Child Abuse and the BRS approach to this at induction. The BRS will explain that the law is in place for their protection rather than to criminalise them. The BRS will be part of any necessary discussions with statutory safeguarding partners. Please refer to Child on Child Abuse policy on website.

Contextual Safeguarding

Safeguarding incidents and/or behaviours can be associated with factors outside the BRS. All staff, but especially the DSL (and deputies) should be considering the context within which such incidents and/or behaviours occur and any external factors that may contribute to concerns. This is known as contextual safeguarding. The BRS, as an organisation, is one of the contexts in which our trainees spend their time but not all risks that they face (or may already have faced) will happen (or have happened) at the school. Trainees will be affected by, and may be exposed to harm in, different environments such as schools, colleges, neighbourhoods and the workplace.

The BRS will provide as much information as possible as part of the referral process. This will allow any assessment to consider all the available evidence and the full context of any abuse.

The BRS will seek information from previous educational establishments to help build a profile for each trainee so that any extra support required can be given or accessed. Information will be shared with relevant staff at pre-course meeting.

Bullying

Trainees may be bullied for a number of different reasons including the protected characteristics: age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, race, religion and belief, sex and sexual orientation all of which are included in The Equality Act 2010.

At the BRS we believe that all trainees have a right to attend the school and learn in a safe environment, free from harm by adults in the school or other trainees and all reports of bullying will be dealt with in accordance with procedures in the BRS Anti-Bullying policy.

Abuse and young people and vulnerable adults with SEN and disabilities

Trainees with disabilities have exactly the same rights to be safe and protected from harm at the BRS and achieve the Every Child Matters outcomes as non-disabled trainees.

Trainees with a disability are at increased risk of abuse and those with multiple disabilities are at even more significant risk both of abuse and neglect. Parents of young people with a disability may experience multiple stresses. This group of young people/vulnerable adults may be particularly vulnerable to abuse for a number of reasons including:

- Having few social contacts than other young people.
- Receiving intimate care from a large number of carers.
- Having an impaired capacity to challenge abuse.
- Having communication difficulties resulting in difficulties telling people what is happening.
- Being reluctant to complain for fear of losing services.
- Being particularly vulnerable to bullying or intimidation.
- Being more vulnerable to abuse by peers than other young people.

It is not always easy to recognise when abuse has taken place or a situation that has taken place may develop to become abusive. Staff are not expected to be experts at recognising such situations, but do have a responsibility to act if they have concerns about the behaviour of an adult towards another young person or vulnerable adult. All staff have a duty to discuss any concerns they may have about the welfare of a young person or vulnerable adult with the DSL's or appropriate senior member of staff as soon as possible.

Gambling

The anticipation and thrill of gambling creates a natural high that can quickly become addictive. The internet has made gambling more accessible, allowing more and more people to do it in privacy or at home. This has also led to an increase in young people gambling.

Problem gamblers are more likely to suffer from low self-esteem, stress, anxiety, and depression. Gamblers are also more likely to end up in prison for crimes such as theft or fraud.

The BRS operates in an industry heavily associated with gambling, however in no way does the BRS promote gambling. The BRS employs a sophisticated system (OpenDNS) which prevents online gambling and if staff have concerns about a trainee, they should report them according to BRS safeguarding procedures. The safeguarding team will help refer those involved to specialist help.

The above list of Current Safeguarding Issues is not exhaustive and as new or updated policy guidance or legislation comes to light, the BRS will review and update its policy as appropriate and in line with the Suffolk Safeguarding Partnership and Local Authority to ensure the BRS is a safe place in which to learn and work.

What do to if you have a concern about a trainee.

Unfounded allegations of abuse do sometimes occur. However, if a trainee indicates that they are being abused, or information is obtained which gives concern that a person is being abused, this should never be ignored but taken seriously and always acted upon.

There are a number of barriers that exist which prevent a young person or vulnerable adult from telling others about abuse. Some of the main barriers are that they may:

- Be scared because they have been threatened.
- Think they will be removed from the school.
- Believe that they are to blame, or they may feel guilty.
- Think it happens to others.
- Feels embarrassed.
- Not wanting their abuser to get in trouble.

- Have communication or learning difficulties.
- Not have the vocabulary to describe what has happened.
- Be afraid that they won't be believed.
- Think they have already disclosed the abuse e.g. by dropping hints.
- Have told someone before and weren't believed, and so think what's the point in trying again?
- They may not: feel ready to disclose; know that they are being abused; or know how to tell someone that they are being abused.

If a disclosure is made:

DO

- Stay calm and listen carefully.
- Reassure the person that they were right to tell you.
- Inform the DSL(s) without delay.
- Takes notes on what is said, not what you think has happened. Do not destroy any notes taken. They must be signed and dated, stating the time and your position, and attached to the form stated below.
- Let them know that the information will be shared but only with those who need to know.
- Make a full written record of what has been said, heard and/or seen as soon as possible (form can be found on QF No.811 or from the DSL). This must be signed and dated, stating the time and your position. (These will be filed separately from other records in a secure cabinet in the admin office and keys held by the DSLs) or fill out concern form on trainee's LOCKER profile.

DO NOT

- Panic.
- Allow shock and/or distaste to show.
- Investigate – you may jeopardise any future prosecution.
- Ask leading questions. Stick to WHO, WHEN, WHERE?
- Speculate, make assumptions, or include your opinion in any notes taken.
- Make negative comments about the alleged perpetrator.
- Promise confidentiality. Explain whom you will have to share information with.
- Ask the trainee to repeat the disclosure to another member of staff.
- Do nothing, expecting someone else to deal with it.
- Do not discuss the issue with anyone other than the appropriate member of staff (DSLs).
- Delay referral.

If any staff members have concerns about a trainee they should, as stated raise these without delay with the DSL but it is important to remember that ANY staff member can refer their concerns directly to Children's Services. If there is a risk of immediate serious harm to a trainee, a referral should be made to Customer First on 0808 800 4005 or in an emergency 999/112.

If you are unsure what your next course of action should be, talk to the DSL and you can also seek advice from the MASH Professional Consultation Line on 0345 6061499.

"The MASH (Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub) is for you to discuss the most appropriate and effective way of providing or obtaining help and support for a child (or adult) you feel is at risk of abuse. This will include advice and guidance about making a referral where necessary”.

What to do if you have a concern about a member of staff.

If you have a concern about a member of staff then this should be referred to the CEO or a member of the SMT in his absence. Where concerns are about the Chief Executive this should be brought to the attention of the Chair of the Board of Trustees. They must then discuss the nature of the allegation with the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) in order for the appropriate actions to be taken. All concerns, no matter how serious, should be reported to the CEO or a member of the SMT as stated above.

Action to be taken by CEO/Chair:

- Refer to the LADO immediately and follow up in writing within 48 hours.
- Consider safeguarding arrangements of the trainee to ensure they are away from the alleged abuser.
- Contact the parents/carers if advised to do so by the LADO.
- Consider the rights of the staff member for a fair and equal process of investigation.
- Ensure that any disciplinary measures are followed including whether to suspend the staff member pending the outcome of any investigation.
- Act on the decisions made in any strategy meeting or evaluation meeting.
- Advise the DBS (Disclosure & Barring Service) whether a member of staff has been disciplined or dismissed as a result of an allegation being founded.
- The CEO must ultimately be informed of all concerns including low level concerns and will make the final decision on how to respond. Where appropriate this can be done in consultation with DSL.

The above is a brief summary of actions please also refer to Allegations Against Staff Policy.

Recruitment of staff.

All job descriptions will state whether an enhanced DBS check is required for the position.

Selection. For each role a detailed job description is created if an existing one is not available. All positions will be advertised appropriately, and the advert will clearly state that applicants will be required to undergo a DBS check where appropriate. The Recruitment Manager will approve all adverts before publication. The selection of new staff will always be carried out by at least two members of staff, one of whom will have completed safer recruitment training. For positions which have regular contact with young people, those being interviewed should be asked specifically about their experience of dealing with young people and any concerns raised in their responses to such questions should be noted and taken into account in the selection of the successful candidate.

C.V.s A curriculum vitae will not be accepted without a completed application form.

References. At least two references will be taken up for any candidate selected for a position, irrespective of whether the job requires a DBS check. References will usually be obtained by the Line Manager responsible for the position. The Recruitment Manager holds the template to be used when requesting details of referees from a prospective new employee and generic letter to be used when writing to a referee.

The BRS will conduct an online search for any shortlisted candidates.

Initiation of DBS check. The Recruitment Manager will initiate the DBS check process for any new member of staff whose position requires a DBS check. DBS checks will also be initiated for any new trustee.

Section 128. This will be carried out for all trustees and senior management.

Single Central Register of Recruitment. The Recruitment Manager is responsible for maintaining the single central register of recruitment and vetting checks.

Induction of new staff.

All new staff will undergo the standard induction process. Their identity will be checked during induction. All staff are subject to a minimum 1-month probation but some appointments are liable to 3 or 6 months' probation. Induction of new staff consists of:

- Office call with the Chief Executive Officer (CEO)
- Briefing from Operations Director. Given a copy of Staff Handbook, to read and sign to confirm that the details contained within will be complied with.
- Briefing from the HR Director to include confirmation of DBS check.
- Briefing with DSL to cover safeguarding and staff code of conduct. This will also include details of safeguarding training to be carried out.
- Given a copy of BRS Safeguarding Induction booklet to be read, completed and signed.
- Health and Safety induction from Health and Safety Advisor.
- Job-specific briefings and learning.
- Fire safety briefing.

Part-time/occasional staff

Part-time/occasional staff are to go through the same induction process outlined above for new full-time staff, with the exception that the office call with the Chief Executive may be undertaken by the Operations Director or the HR Director.

Training Staff

Training of staff is an essential component of the School's Safeguarding policy. The school is a member of SafeCIC and Suffolk School's Choice, organisations dedicated to child protection. They provide child protection training, risk assessments and child protection policies. Level 1 Safeguarding training will be provided for all staff and this will be undertaken at least every three years. The School's Welfare Adviser and Trustees also take this training, which can be either face-to-face or online. There will also be regular updates throughout the year delivered by the DSL or alternate, as and when required.

The DSL and alternatives will undertake training to Level 3 standard and this training to be renewed every two years to update their awareness and understanding of Safeguarding issues. This is delivered through links with Suffolk Safeguarding Children's Board. They will also have completed Common Assessment Framework training for dealing with disclosure issues. They also have access to regular updates through Suffolk CPD, Suffolk Safeguarding Partnership and NSPCC CASPAR amongst others.

Workplace Specific

“All those who come into contact with children and families in their everyday work..., have a duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children”. HM Government Department of Health.

It is important to remember that children refers to all those under 18 years of age.

Workplace abuse comes in many forms: violence, harassment, threatening, or aggressive behaviour and bullying. These can have devastating results, with serious physical or psychological damage being common occurrences. Not only can this lead to loss of staff or, at the very least, poor staff morale, it can also lead to legal or financial implications if employees seek financial compensation for their grievances. It can also lead to loss of reputation as “word” gets around, often making it difficult to recruit staff. Robust and effective safeguarding procedures can therefore help all staff, not only young people. They can help maintain good staff morale, leading to a happier workforce which in turn can lead to better staff retention.

BRS Role

BRS will play its part in Safeguarding in the workplace as follows:

- A health and Safety Standards (HASS) check will be carried out on all yards prior to a trainee being placed there. This will be reviewed every 3 years.
- BRS will conduct a dynamic risk assessment for each individual trainee before their placement with an employer.
- BRS will run a dynamic risk assessment on each yard where trainees are placed. This will be updated as new information is received from partner agencies, Wis or trainees.
- BRS will liaise with BHA safeguarding team to ensure that relevant staff on each yard used have up-to-date safeguarding training.
- Trainees will receive lessons in Equality and Diversity, Personal Safety, Online E-Safety, Prevent Strategy during their time at BRS.
- Trainees will be given a copy of the Trainee Workplace Handbook, which includes a section on safeguarding, advice on how to deal with safeguarding situations and a list of useful contact details. This will also include contact information for BRS mentor and safeguarding leads.
- Also included in this are details of the BRS Safeguarding SMS service, which provides round-the-clock contact with DSLs and also information on a variety of helplines.
- Parents or carers will be encouraged to play an active role in their charges' transition to the workplace. E.g., finding accommodation, local amenities, etc.
- A trainee Safeguarding review will be carried out by WI's within 10 days of any trainee commencing employment. This will also take place if a trainee moves to another yard.
- Wis will report any concerns, no matter how serious to one of the BRS Safeguarding team.
- The BRS Safeguarding team will offer help and support where possible to both trainees and employers.
- The BRS will deal with all safeguarding matters as per procedures laid down in the BRS safeguarding policy.
- BRS will share information with the BHA Safeguarding team, where appropriate and, with trainee's permission, liaise closely with them during any investigations.

- The BRS will use any allegations against staff, no matter how trivial, as learning lessons, not just those which are concluded and found to be substantiated.

Employer's Role

- Employers taking on a BRS trainee should have a safeguarding policy in place. Those who do not have one may use the template provided in the BRS handbook. This policy should apply to all staff, clients and sub-contractors.
- Employers should also have in place a code of conduct for all staff, clients and sub-contractors.
- Employers must also be aware of and adhere to the BHA code of conduct and safeguarding procedures.
- Employers must agree to the HASS check carried out by BRS.
- Employers must agree to the action plan (if any) after the HASS check.
- Employers are encouraged to contact BRS safeguarding team if they need help with safeguarding issues.
- It is recommended that employers consider how they will enable protection for young people using their computers or WI-FI.
- Suspected or disclosure of abuse involving a BRS trainee must be reported to one of the BRS Designated Safeguarding Leads, whose details are available in the BRS handbook. In an emergency call the police 999/112.
- Employers should follow the procedures shown in the safeguarding template or in the BRS Safeguarding policy.
- Guidance on specific issues may be obtained from one of the Designated Safeguarding Leads at the BRS.
- Allegations against a member of BRS staff should be reported to Andrew Braithwaite, the CEO of the BRS.
- Should the trainer offer accommodation, they have a duty to ensure that it is safe, secure and habitable.
- Trainers should also ensure that trainees under the age of eighteen do not have to share with older staff members.

BRS STAFF CODE OF CONDUCT

Scope and Purpose

This guidance applies to all staff, volunteers and trustees and aims to help them all understand the standards of conduct expected of them. It provides guidance on how to reduce the risk of conduct which could be mistakenly interpreted as improper or conduct that may lead to allegations being made against a member of staff, volunteer or trustee.

Principles of the code of conduct:

- The welfare and safety of our staff and trainees is paramount.
- BRS aims to provide the highest level of experience to our trainees, clients and staff.
- Staff must take responsibility for their own actions and act in a transparent and ethical way.

This document supplements but does not replace or supersede any established policies or procedures.

- Staff must wear (or where this is not possible, due to the job role, must carry) their staff identification badge and lanyard at all times whilst on BRS premises to identify themselves as a member of staff.
- Be aware of visitors seemingly having no business on the premises. NO Badge? ASK!!
- Be alert to members of the public/staff approaching, videoing or taking photographs of trainees especially if using their own equipment. Report any such behaviours immediately.
- If you consider any such behaviours to be dangerous or criminal, you may call Social Services "Customer First" on 0808 8004005 or if in an immediate danger call 999/112.

- Staff must give constructive feedback rather than negative criticism.
- Never reduce trainees to tears as a form of control.
- Staff must never administer medication unless trained to do so.
- Staff must be polite and friendly but do not forge close personal relationships with trainees or have favourites.
- Where possible all contact with trainees should be made using official BRS devices.

This includes the wider use of technology such as mobile phones, text, e-mails, blogs, social media etc. All communications are required to be transparent and may be open to scrutiny and on BRS accounts.
- Avoid physical contact unless absolutely necessary e.g. Legging up, first aid or other emergencies.
- Physical contact should only take place when it is necessary in relation to a particular activity. It should take place in a safe and open environment and at all times the learner should be made aware of why the contact is necessary and appropriate for the activity that is being undertaken.

- Staff must not transport trainees in their own personal vehicles.
- If a trainee needs to be transported in a BRS vehicle they must be accompanied by at least one other trainee or staff member.
- Staff must be excellent role models for trainees, this includes not smoking, drinking alcohol or using abusive language in the company of trainees in any work related environment.
- Staff must never make sexually suggestive remarks even in fun.
- Do not accept swearing, bullying or other inappropriate behaviours either from colleagues or members of the public when trainees are involved or in close proximity.
- Never allow swearing or in appropriate language by trainees to go unchallenged.
- Recognise that caution is required especially when dealing with sensitive moments e.g., when dealing with bullying, bereavement, or abuse.
- All staff represent BRS, whether in the office, classroom, external events or meetings. Staff are, therefore expected to present an appropriate impression at all times and should dress and present themselves in clothing that is appropriate to their role.
- In some roles within BRS, staff will be provided with and are required to wear uniform and/or Personal Protective Equipment. Examples of inappropriate clothing may be attire that is:
 - Revealing or sexually provocative.
 - Offensive or likely to cause embarrassment.
 - Displays contentious/discriminatory slogans.
- Never allow allegations, observations or disclosures to go unchallenged, unrecorded or not acted upon.
